WAILUKU, MAUI, H. T., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1910

NUMBER 30

Result of Primaries

Large Vote Polled, Result Indicates Quiet Convention.

The Republican primaries throughout the County passed off quietly. In Wailuku, where there was a strenuous fight between the Case and Kekoikai factions for delegates, the result seems to show a victory for Case. Below is the result in the different Precincts:

Tragedy At Waikapu

Little Louis Manuel Swept Through Reservoir Pipe and Drowned.

Monday morning last, the water in the reservoir near the sand hills below Waikapu was very low, and a number of children went there to gather shell fish, commonly called fresh water clams, which were very plentiful in the nearly empty reservoir. On seeing many of his playmates going, little Louis Manuel, the eight-year-old son of Kilohe Manuel of Waikapu, asked his mother for permission to go along with them. The mother refused and told her son to keep away from the reservoir as it was a dangerous place. Nevertheless, while the mother was busy with her house work, little Louis Manuel ran away to join his playmates on what proved to be his last day with his boy friends.

At the reservoir the children went to gathering shell fish and played with one another as children will. While running about in the shallow water about the underground outlet Louis Manuel fell in and was swept into the big outlet pipe. Some of his playmates caught hold of him and tried their best to pull him out, but the suction caused by water running through the pipe was too strong. He slipped from their grasp and disappeared.

His playmates gave the alarm and plowmen working in the nearby canefields hurried to the scene too late to be of any assistance to the drowning boy. The gate of the outlet pipe was but partly open and the body of the boy caught there. The men had to work and turn the lever for almost an hour before the body got clear and washed out into the ditch below the reservoir. When picked up the boy had fastened his teeth into his right arm so tightly that the flesh had to be cut away before the body could be prepared for burial.

Deputy Sheriff Clement Crowell and police Captain Chas. Lake went to the scene and satisfied them-

Laying of Corner-Stone

Church of the Good Shepherd, Wailuku,
Building a Temple.

With a congregation of about 125 the corner-stone of the new Church of the Good Shepherd, the foundations of which are complete, was laid by Canon Wm. Ault on Wednesday, September 7th at 10 a. m.

The day proved auspicious and at the stated hour the members and friends of the Church began to arrive and all was in readiness on the stroke of the clock.

The Rev. Dr. Weymouth of Lahaina and Canon Ault were the only visiting clergymen, others being kept away by school duties or by sickness.

The procession formed in the old Church, and proceeded to the place where the stone was to be laid reading the 132 Psalm. Arriving at the spot the Hymn "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation" was sung, after which the service proceeded to the Lesson which was read by the Rev. Dr. Weymouth. The list of deposits in the stone was read and a short address was delivered by the Rector of the Parish. He stated that the native stone and copper box was presented to the Church by the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co., through Mr. F. Baldwin and Mr. Searby, and expressed the thanks of the congregation for this very worthy donation. After the address Canon Ault laid the corner-stone which bears the simple inscription "Church of the Good Shepherd 1910, in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

The gavel used at this ceremony is a relic, and it is made of teak and oak and copper taken from the hulk of the first vessel ever wrecked in the Columbia River—the "Sylvia de Grasse" at Astoria, Oregon, in the early years of the last century. The gavel was used by the present Rector of the Good Shepherd, just before he left Oregon last year, in laying the corner-stone of another Church, and so by connection with France is a fitting symbol of that early Church in Gaul (now France) which furnished saints and martyrs of the early ages who traced their authority to the beloved disciple St. John who was the immediate follower of the Good Shepherd Himself!

Thus the warp and woof of religious as well as secular commercial interests binds the world and the ages in one.

We were glad to notice that a number of the local ministers were present. Among the members was one who informed us that she was present when the Rev. Geo. B. Whipple began the Church work here in the 60's, and was among the first baptized in the old Church. Thus is begun a new epoch of this work in our midst. The past record of the Church is in the hearts and lives of many far away in remote corners of the earth, and of many in our community. The future remains to be told.

The old wooden building in which many sad as well as happy experiences have taken place, will be used for parish work and school purposes. It has served its day. The new building is to be more durable and is of reinforced concrete.

Mr. S. E. Lucas and family arrived on the Claudine from Hilo, on their way to Honolulu. Mr. Lucas intends to return to Wailuku in about two months, for a stay of two weeks.

Wailuku Has Tennis Club

A New Organization That Will Add
Greatly to Local Gaiety.

Last week a few tennis enthusiasts met and organized a Club to be known as the "Wailuku Tennis Club." Tuesday evening the members of the club met at the home of C. D. Lufkin, and adopted a constitution and by-laws, and transacted other routine business. A tennis court has been secured and men have been working on it for the past week putting it in shape. It is hoped to have the court in condition for play in about two weeks. The new tennis club will be quite an acquisition to the social life of Wailuku, and it is anticipated by the organizers to develop some good contests in the near future.

It was voted at the meeting Tuesday evening that the initiation fee should be $1.50 for both gentlemen and ladies. The dues for gentlemen shall be four dollars per year, payable six months in advance. Ladies are to pay no dues, the initiation fee admitting them to full active membership.

In order that a lively interest may be taken in the development of the new club, some of our public spirited citizens might come forward and donate trophies for the members to strive for, thereby developing some of the material here in Wailuku. After a few contests of this sort we might be able to make a creditable showing with some of the older clubs in an inter-club tournament.

In order that the ladies may be induced to take a deeper interest in the game the News will donate a cup to be played for, under rules laid down by the club. The only stipulations being that it shall be won in a handicap tournament, and that to own the cup outright it must be won three times by the same lady. The officers of the club are C. E. Meyers, President; Alfred Martinson, Jr., Vice-president; F. A. Lufkin, Secretary and Treasurer. The annual meeting of the club will be held the first Monday in December, and all those joining before that time will be considered charter members.

Relief for the Dupes.

It having been learned from a number of sources that Dan Tweedie, who visited these islands last spring, had taken a number of supposed subscriptions for the San Francisco Weekly American, and that these same subscribers were receiving the Petaluma Poultryman, the Editor of the News took the matter up with the management of the American, and laid the details before them. In answer to our letter we received a communication stating that the American had not received any of the money or subscriptions from Tweedie, and that he had been discharged from their employ. They also stated that if those people in the islands who have been imposed upon by Tweedie will send in their receipts, they will be glad to forward the paper, without any further payment of money. If there are any of our readers who have such receipts, and will forward them to us, we will see to it that they receive the paper for which they subscribed.

D. H. Case and Mrs. Case are spending the week in Honolulu. Mr. Case is making a business trip.

Practical Preaching

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt has refused to be the guest of honor at a banquet to be held here, and to which Senator Lorimer, the man who acknowledged to have bought his seat in the United States Senate, had been invited.
